

KERALA

Know all about health at Jignasa

STAFF REPORTER

THIRUVANANTHAPURAM: FEBRUARY 11, 2017 00:00 IST

UPDATED: FEBRUARY 11, 2017 04:05 IST

A machine used to conduct DNA profile matching; an eight-month-old foetus; a coir composite stool top; plantain stem squash...these and more can be viewed at a public health exhibition being organised as part of Jignasa, an international conference organised by the Vidyaathi Seva Trust on 'Convergence of health traditions in Bharatavarsha,' at the Poojappura ground.

Among the stalls are those by institutions such as Central Council for Research in Unani, National Medicinal Plant Institute for Medical Sciences and Technology, CSIR-NIIST, and ISRO among others. The expo will conclude on Sunday.

