The CSIR-National Institute for Interdisciplinary Science and Technology (NIIST) has inked an MoU with an Ernakulam-based start-up for the development of nutraceutical products from fermented turmeric powder and selected Zingiberales.

“The turmeric-based fermented products will be in the form of dietary supplements, sports medicine and functional foods and drinks and could also have probiotic content for added health benefits,” the CSIR institute at Pappanamcode here said.

The MoU has been signed with AbrinAldrich Agronic Products Pvt. Ltd.
